WHY THIS CONVERSATION

Everyone has an opinion on AI. Few have run it

Every agency owner is being told AI changes everything. Few have heard from anyone who's actually run that change inside a real agency.

No pitch

No hype cycle

Real clients, real teams

AGENDA

What we'll cover

01

Where AI is actually deployed inside agencies today and where it's stalled out

02

What's changing in search, client demand and service delivery and what isn't

03

What the agency of the future looks like

team structure, headcount, service mix

04

What agency owners get wrong about AI

and what to focus on instead

TOPIC 02

What’s changing, and what isn’t

Search

How is AI reshaping how clients’ customers search and find them?

Client demand

What are clients asking agencies for now that they weren’t a year ago?

Service delivery

How is the work itself getting done differently, and what still needs people?

03 What the agency of the future looks like

TOPIC 03

The agency of the future, from the inside

Team structure

How do roles and reporting lines change when AI is part of the team?

Headcount

Does the agency of the future get smaller, or just different?

Service mix

Which services grow, which shrink, and which are new?

TOPIC 04

Common mistakes, and where to focus instead

What owners get wrong

Where are agency owners misreading AI, or spending effort in the wrong place?

What to focus on instead

What should owners prioritise now to be well placed in five years?
